TOWNE TALK

"Just for Fun"
By RAS BERRY

Joe Stone he has got a fixed habit of being invited to places to dinner and then telling his hostess to buy a certain kind of a steak from Lovello Ott which is a kind Joe likes extra well and then when Joe goes to this here house for dinner why he goes out in the kitchen and cooks the steak himself and the other night why Mrs. Nettie Steinliber is told by Geo. Proctor that Joe Stone is coming up for dinner and to go down to Ott's and buy the kind of steak that Joe likes and so she goes down and Lovello he says why Joe ordered that steak his own self and when he ordered it they was a big fat guy with him and so Mrs. S. she thinks that Geo. and Joe has ordered the steak and after a while she goes back to Ott's and she says is the steak going to be delivered or is Joe going to bring it his self and Butch he says why Joe is going to bring it his self and so Mrs. S. goes home and that night after work Geo. gets home about 6:10 p.m. and Mrs. S. says where is Joe and Geo. says why Joe ain't coming here tonight and all the butcher shops is closed and Geo. and Mrs. S. and Mrs. Proctor don't have no meat for supper that night but Joe he had his favorite steak because he went to some other house that night and now he is chucking because Geo. didn't have no meat for supper.

Bill Gascoigne has won the good will of all the housewives in town because when the city boys starts putting down oil on the alleys why Bill he knocks at the back doors and tells the housewives that they is going to lay some oil with dirt on top of it and would the housewives want to take the clothes in off the line and the boss at our house she says that Bill is wanting his time in Calif. and should ought to get a job back east driving a coal wagon where every time you order coal they deliver it on wash day and soot your clothes all up and that if Bill had a job like that why the company he worked for would sell all the coal in the town.

John is a little Jap that sells vegetables and he says the other day that they is a lot of folks that treat him awful nice and one of them is the Shidler family and the other is Al Bartlett so I tells Dr. Shidler that this here John don't never take sick and informs Bart that Japs ain't got no vote.

Louis Klein, an entertainer from KNX, was at the Rotary Club luncheon last wk and ox tongue was served for lunch and Louis he says he is sorry about that because it seems that every place he has went lately they have had either oxtail soup or ox tongue and he is having a hard time making both ends meet so the boys tell him the next time he comes to Torrance we will have ox hearts so he can play both ends against the middle.

The lintype operator calls attention to a sub-heading in The Examiner story about W. J. B. and right over a paragraph in a dispatch from Washington it says HOST PASSES BIER.

Hughie Meyers is driving a buddy's car over to Wilmington and he dodges to the side of the road to miss hitting some bozo and they is another car parked in the ditch and he crashed by it and takes a couple fenders with him which ain't no bozo only two cops oozo up and find out that Hughie ain't got no driver's license, but Hughie shows them a dog license only that don't get by and now Hughie says it looks like it'll cost him about 30 bucks and the boys up to the American is looking forward to a increase in the price of sodas.

When the Legion boys was breaking ground for their clubhouse Monday night why somebody takes a slant at Trooper Shumacher making the dirt fly and says it's too bad Gen. Goethals didn't know about you who he was digging the Panama canal and Shoe he says don't send no check but fork it over right here and this guy says well if I pay you I'll have to take out them ties that we is using to park cars on and they gets to figgering and finally this guy agrees to leave the ties in on Geo's lot and pay Geo. a dollar to boot and promises not to rent our Geo's lot no more.

The post commander and the mayor is the gents who named the dirt on which the boys was to dig the dirt and they picked a good one—for them—because Verne he had to leave early to take a new degree in the Masons and Bob had to lay aside the shovel to get to the trustees' meeting.

So it devolved on the writer to dig most of the ditch, with the expert assistance of Alex MacPhail, Dewey Fix, W. Post, Carleton Bell, Emerson Stewart and Sam Levy. They was also some other on-lookers.

The Auxiliary was there and they had the dog sandwiches and served salad and coffee and pie and when it was all ready some ex-bugler whistled chow call and on the first note Carleton Bell throwed his shovel so far that he never found it again.

he gets mad and Mrs. Proctor goes up to the head of one of the families that has got a tent on the lot and asks them where they get permission to put up tents on the lot and Geo. says why you don't need permission, all you do is just pitch your tent and a fellow comes around and collects and she says how much does he collect and this bozo says he charges one-fifty for tent space and 50 cents for parking your car. Well Geo. is pretty sore but he pitches the tent just the same and pretty soon a bird comes around and says is this your tent and Geo. says it sure is and this bird says well you owe me a dollar and a half and Geo. he says the hell you say and this guy says don't get fresh or I'll put you off this lot and Geo. says oh you will hell, well whose lot is this I would like to know and this bird says well we have got this lot leased and Geo. says like hell you have got it leased this is my lot now what do you think of that and this bird looks kinda funny and he says well of course if this is your lot why well let you stay here and Geo. says I'll tell the cock-eyed world you'll let me stay here and what's more you owe me plenty of jack for renting my lot out. Well Geo. gets to thinking it over and the more he thinks the warmer he gets and pretty soon he gets up and goes out looking for the man that was renting his lot out and pretty soon he finds him and they goes round and round and finally Geo. says what the hell right have you got renting out my lot and this guy says they ain't no need getting sore about it because I was going to send you a check for your share and Geo. says well don't send no check but fork it over right here and this guy says well if I pay you I'll have to take out them ties that we is using to park cars on and they gets to figgering and finally this guy agrees to leave the ties in on Geo's lot and pay Geo. a dollar to boot and promises not to rent our Geo's lot no more.

CHERRY-CURRANT PRESERVES

Use about four pounds of sour cherries and three pounds of red currants. Stone cherries, pick currants from stems and put them in preserving kettle together. Add just enough water to start the juice flowing and to prevent them from burning, and cook 15 minutes. Then add sugar, using three-fourths of a pound to a pound of fruit unless you wish the jam very sweet, in which case use pound for pound. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. When of the right consistency, put into preserve jars and seal.

America is still undiscovered, still waiting to be discovered—by you! Away from the paved highways, deep in the hidden solitudes—are shady groves fragrant with the scent of flowers—sun-drenched valleys—lazy streams—or hurrying brooks as befit your mood. Waiting to please you with their untouched charms. Take your Ford and venture forth into the delights of the unknown. Leave the beaten path to others. Go where you will—whether the road is paved or not. It is the car of the true adventurer; the car that no going—be it sand, dirt or rocky road—can halt; the car that will take you safely, certainly and happily to where nature hides her true loveliness.
